CHAPTER CCXXVI1.

SUTA said:—Dhanvantari thus narrated the science of A'ur-veda to Sushruta. Now I i-'hatl briefly enumerate the different names of the A'yurvedic drugs, SthirA, Vidarigandbd, and Anshumati are the names of Sh£Iaparni (Desmodium Gange-ticum), L^ngali, Kalasi, and Krashtupuchchha are the names of Guh£ (Mucuna Pruriens). Varshibhu is called Punarnavd (Spreading hogneed, Boerhaaria Diffusa). K^ravellah is another name of Katillaka (Hairy Mordica-Momardrca Charanteal, Eranda (castor-oil plant. Riconus Comamnis) Uruvaka, Amanda and Vardhaminaka are synonymous. N3ga* vali is called JhasS (Sida Spinosa). Shvadanstrfi is cafled Gokshura (Tygophylleae Tribulus terestris\ Shatavari, Var5, Bhiru, Pivari, Vari and Indivari (Asparagus Racemosus) are synonymous. Vyaghri, Vrihati, Krishni, Hansapadi, Madhu-shravi, Dh^mani, Kshudri, Simhi and Nidigdhika are the names of Kantakari (Solanum Janthocarpum), Vrischikcilf, Amriti, K41i, Vishaghni, Sarpadanshtriki, Markati, Atma-gupt^, and Arsheyi are the names of Kapikacbchhuka (Mucuna Pruriens). Kshudra-Sahi is Mudgaparni (Phaseolus TrilotHis), while Mishaparni is called Mah5-sah£ (Teramuns Labiah's, Grangea Madraspatna). Nyagrodha is Vata (Banyan tree); Kapila is the name of Ashvattha (Ficus Religioasa). Parkati Gardhavanda, and Kapitana are the names of Plaksha (Thaspesia Pahulnea). Pirtha, Kukubha, and Dhanvi are the names of Arjuna (Farminalia Arjuna). Prarohl, and Pushtikari are the namei of Nandi-Vriksha(a species of figtree). Vanjirla is Vetasa (calamus rotong), while Bhallitaka is called Ana/shkara (Semecarpu^ Anacardium). Lodhra is called SSravafea, Phrishta, or Tirita (Symplocas Racemosa). Vala-phalS, and Vribatphaia are the names of Mahi-Jamvu (Eugenia Jambolana). Nddiyi and Tritiya are the names of Jala-Yamvu